

Andy Mosson

Association of Renal Technologists (ART)
Representative

Andy started as a trainee renal technician at the Churchill Hospital, Oxford in 1973. He then moved to Cobe Laboratories in 1979 progressing to UK Service Manager responsible for technical support for Cobe Heart Lung Machines, Dialysis Machines and Blood Cell Separators.

In 1996, after Cobe merged with Hospal, an opportunity arose for Andy to return to the Churchill Hospital Renal Unit. Andy is now the Technical Manager at the Churchill responsible for 5 main dialysis units and home patients in the Oxford region.

Andy is currently the Chairman of the Association of Renal Technologists. He is also the ART representative on the Federation of Healthcare Scientists and the British Standards Institute committee for electrical safety and renal related standards.
